

About me

My name is Boniface Kyalo, I am a full-time freelance translator located in Nairobi, Kenya, East Africa and working exclusively through the internet and e-mail. I am a versatile nature, honest, responsible, with a great power of individual work.

My strong point? Reliability. I think each translation is unique; I therefore combine talent and passion for languages with my knowledge in the respective field and my research skills in order to produce the highest standard of translation quality.

My client is always at the top of my priorities list, and I prove this by providing quality translations at the agreed deadline.

My customers are guaranteed:

- Premier quality translations:
 - High-quality translation texts that fully convey the meaning and intent of your source documents; the finished text will read as if it was originally written in the Swahili language.
 - Great attention to details
 - Up-to-date Swahili language, terminology, styles, registers, & genres (supported by the fact that I am based in Kenya)
 - Unparalleled fluency, translations do not read like translations but like originals
 - Appropriate desktop publishing
- Excellent client services:
 - Prompt and hassle-free services
 - Excellent deadline compliance and turnaround time
 - Dependability
 - Friendly and flexible communications
 - Firm and competitive prices
 - Effective localization for Swahili-speaking markets
 - Editing and proof-reading of documents
 - Media support e.g. Voice-overs
